Anybow the result will please that element of people who think that the public offices should be filled by men of different political parties, so that each can "watch the other."

Just what might be expected to happen when the population of any community or section is too nearly equal as between whites and blacks, occurred in Christian "county on election day. The women of both races were trying to vote, it is reported, when a negro woman pushed herself into the polling place and roughly pulled a white woman out of line who was ahead of her. A race riot was narrowly averted. The incident shows what the white women will often be subjected to, if they are granted and exercise the ballot.

AN INCESSANT COUGH. ENTERTAIN DELEGATES Continued Dropping of Mucus into my Throat.

A severe cough is always a grave symptom. It may not indicate or-ganic disease of the lungs. Even though the cough is a functional dis-turbance it is of sufficient gravity to demand prompt attention.

The dropping of mucus from the back part of the nose into the throat indicates nasal catarrh. So this goes on a long time before the notions nove any attention to it. It is stated on good authority that mucus dropping into the throat in this way is apt to excite catarrh of the stomach. At any rate, the condition ought to be corrected as soon as pos-

Mrs. Bourland, of Frankston, Texas, found after using Peruna that not only did the incessant cough disap-pear, but the dropping of mucus into the throat had also ceased. Read what she says:

WATER FED THE FLAMES.

Hopeless Fight Against a Peculiar Conflagration at Sea.

When the freighter Hardy steamed out of Le Treport, France, she carried besides the mineral water in her hold a number of small wooden cases marked "metallic sodium."

The channel was rough. The vessel If the bicycle taken from the rolled and pitched violently. The cap- tempted suicide-not only once was shifting, sent a boatswain below to investigate. As the boatswain enthat the water was swishing about in of the wooden cases marked "sodium" burst into flame.

Immediately he gave the alarm, and the crew rushed to their fire stations. The captain directed the men to play the hose into the hold. As the first stream of water struck the burning case there were several explosions as package after package within the case caught fire. By this time two other cases of sodium had broken open, and their contents as they came in contact larly objects are arranged, their comwith the water from the bose burst into flames.

Then suddenly two cases flew into the air, crashed against the overhead beams and spread out in sheets of fire, the smaller pieces dropping back only to bounce and dance they were all condensed into a giganabout, hot balls of flame, in the half swamped hold.

Panic stricken, the crew dropped the hose lines and fled above decks. But the captain ordered the cargo fluig into the sea and led his men back into the hold. They succeeded in throwing several of the cases overboard. But as each case hit the waves it rebounded into the air, a flaming ball,

The superstitions crew was fast be coming unmanageable, and the captain saw that in any case he must abandon the ship. He ordered the crew to the boats not one moment too soon, for as the boats rowed away from the blazing bulk several loud explosions came from the hold. Then there was one mighty detonation. The freighter broke in two and plunged out of sight. The origin of the fire was, of course in the sodium. Sodium is a peculiar metal, which oxydizes rapidly when metal, which oxydizes rapidly when water touches it and flames as soon as the water becomes warm. According to the chemist's classification, it is the second member of the alkali group that includes lithium, potassium, rabidium and causium. All of these elements have the same characteristics as so-dium in greater or less degree. The sodium should have been shipped in hermetically senied tin cans included in wooden cases. But the rolling of the ship and the careless stowing of the cargo broke open some of these cases, and the sodium, which was not properly packed, was liberated.—Bos-ton Herald.

Origin of a Famous Hymn.

It seems to be a very solid fact that the poet Cowper, author of the hymn "God Moves In a Mysterious Way," atafter one of such attempts. The driver whom he had engaged to take him to tered the hold he saw that several the river in which he had purposed cases of mineral water had broken and drowning himself, being suspicious of his customer's intention, drove him the hold. Then suddenly he saw one around in the closed carriage and finally set him down at his own door. Stopping out, and finding the old familiar scenes, the poet, now repentant, rushed into the house and justantly composed the immortal hymn-"God Moves In a Mysterious Way His Wonders to Perform." - New York Amer-
